SK INTERVENTION IN RUHR; GERMANS URGE EVACUATION

BERLIN, March 6—Germany will not open negotiations with France or a settlement of the Ruhr problem, until that district is evacuated by the French and Belgian armies, Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno announced this afternoon in the special session of the reichstag.

Ready to Negotiate.

Chancellor Cuno virtually invited intervention in the Ruhr by an outside power

"We would not refuse intervention by a third power," said the chancellor

It was generally believed that he was referring to the United States The chancellor continued:

"Germany is ready to negotiate, but we must negotiate as an equal Evacuation of the Ruhr by the armies of occupation is necessary before the negotiations can begin"

England May Act.

LONDON, March 6—Formal motion for mediation in the Ruhr was made in the house of commons this afternoon by Ramsay MacDonald, laborite chief, and leader of the opposition on the floor

MacDonald moved that the French and Belgian chambers of deputies be invited to co-operate with the British parliament to settle the Ruhr issue between France and Germany.

This movement was regarded with more significance in view of reports from Berlin that Chancellor Cuno make a definite reparations offer to France in the reichstag this evening.

Chancellor of the exchequer Stanley Baldwin declared in a speech this afternoon that Great Britain is seeking peace.

"There can be no complete resumption of trade until Europe unalternably settles the questions of debts and reparations," said Chancellor Baldwin.

Cleveland Home Rule Charter Is Upheld

COLUMBUS, March 6—Validity of the amendment to the home rule character of Cleveland, adopted at the November election, 1921, was upheld today by the state supreme court. The opinion, written by Judge Florence Allen, relates to the cause of George D. Hile and William Reutener versus the City of Cleveland and Fred Kohler, mayor of Cleveland.

The plaintiffs had attacked the constitutionality of the amendment and the Hare system of proportional representation in voting, and other changes in the city charter. The court held that the amendment does not violate either the state or federal constitutions. The Hare system provides for voting by wards, each ward being entitled to from five to nine councilmen. Each elector in each ward is entitled to vote as many choices as there are members of the council to be elected but no voter is entitled to vote more than one first choice.

VANDERBILT WEDDING IS BIG EVENT

NEW YORK, March 6—Jewels rivalling the crown gems of many European kingdoms were worn by Miss Gloria Morgan when she became the bride of Reginald C. Vanderbilt at noon here today.

A necklace of precious stones ending in a pear shaped diamond pendant, three quarters of an inch in length, was Vanderbilt's gift to the woman who became his wife. The cost of the string is estimated at $50,000.

Today's ceremony was attended by most of New York's socially elite.

Miss Morgan was not the conventional "white satin and orange blossom" bride.

The entire color scheme was mauve and white, which for years have been Vanderbilt's coaching colors

The gown which Miss Morgan wore today was gray on mauve tones It is the newest thing in Paris, it is said, so new that it has not yet been seen in this country.

SAWING WOOD AGREES WITH WILHELM; STORK TO VISIT BRIDE

If current rumors are true, ex-Kaiser Wilhelm will have to keep right on sawing wood to keep his family from want. Princess Hermione, his bride of a few months, is said to be expecting a visit from that thin-legged bird with the long bill, usually seen with a small bundle of humanity. That brings up a question. If it's a son, will Wilhelm "raise his boy to be a soldier"?

LICENSES FOR "POP" PARLORS NOW REQUIRED

Measure Is Expected to Curb Illicit Sale of Booze

The ordinance requiring dealers in soft drinks to obtain a license was given its third reading last night, and was then unanimously passed by the council. It does not apply to a regular drug store. The ordinance as originally drafted fixed the license fee at $10 per year. At the suggestion of Councilman Muller it was reduced to $5.

Councilman Carson wanted a $2 fee, as the city did not put the license on as a means of revenue, but as a regulatory measure only. At the suggestion of Councilman Howells the license fee can be paid on a pro rata basis, three months at a time, but all licenses are to expire on January 1st

It is estimated that there are over one hundred small and large merchants in the city who will be affected

The ordinance was suggested by Mayor Jones who wanted some means of putting out of business soft drink parlors that violate the law by selling liquor, or who keep disorderly places. He has a right to refuse a license to violators of the law, and applicants must be of good moral character before they will be licensed.

ANOTHER ELYRIAN HUNTED IN CRIME RETURNS A CORPSE

The burial in this city yesterday of Lou Davidson, who died in New York City, was the final chapter in the life of a man who against adverse circumstances accumulated a comfortable fortune.

Davidson formerly lived at Coonville He was married and had a wife and two children. One day he got into the home of Henry Jones, and hid under the bed Jones and wife went to bed and later, hearing something got up to investigate. A man jumped out, plunged through the window and got away Jones claimed it was Davidson, and caused a warrant to be issued for his arrest. Constable Charles Cahoon served the warrant and Davidson on a pretext of changing clothes went into another room, escaped by way of the back door and never was caught He left town and later his wife was divorced from him

It now develops that he went to New York City, and some way or other started a saloon. He prospered and married an educated colored lady from Washington. His business prospered wonderfully and he accumulated a large amount of money. A few years ago he drove through here in a big Packard limousine, stopping off long enough to see a few friends. He said to then, "I got a bad start in Elyria, but I have made good since then" In New York he was popular and had the reputation of helping those in distress When the country went dry he engaged in the restaurant business and again made good

Yesterday he was brought back here in a $600 metallic casket, and was buried in a high priced steel vault His wife was with the body, and she bore every evidence of prosperity. She is said to have passed the remark that her husband was wealthy and that he had a safety deposit box containing valuable bonds and much jewelry and diamonds His two daughters still live here, and are highly respected by all who know them At the time of his visit to this city, he passed the remark that when he died he would see that his daughters were taken care of Forecasters characterized the acute change in the weather as "a very sudden development" The snow flurry which is passing over the east today, they said was caused by a storm which started late yesterday over New Mexico, and set in simultaneously over a wide area extending from St Joseph, Mo to Washington.

Despondent, caused by illness of over two years, Anton Kryzstowski 38, committed suicide early last evening at his home on the Mittendorf road, Avon

Mittendorf was injured one day while tearing down a barn on the Abbe road and has been a sick man ever since. Yesterday his wife and oldest son came to Elyria to have some clover seed cleaned During their absence he went to Lorain, and procured some strychnine, and got back before their return. At supper time he asked for some black coffee, and when it was served he put a powder into it, and drank it Soon after he asked his wife to take him to the barn to see the stock, and she complied. While there he suddenly collapsed and went into convulsions, dying before any aid could be given him.

He is survived by his wife and three children, Victor, Francis and Jessie. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at St Mary's church, Avon.

LEGISLATURE PLANS EARLY ADJOURNMENT

Tax Problem Is Biggest Solution to Solve; Start Steering Bills

COLUMBUS, March 6.—Starting today, the house rules committee will serve as the steering committee and only such bills and resolutions as it may recommend will reach a vote on the question of passage in the lower legislative chamber. This change in proceedure is interpreted as indicating legislative leaders contemplate early adjournment.

Within the next week it is expected the big appropriation bills will be introduced and the Taft taxation measure and the gasoline tax bill either passed or defeated. Then, it is probable a two weeks recess will be taken.

Reconsidering the vote by which it defeated the bill providing for licensing confectioneries, the house recommitted the measure to the dairy and food committee for amendment The house, also, passed the bill, by Representative Dearmond, Butler county, providing for the repeal of the law requiring insurance companies to deposit $50 000 in the state before they can transact business in Ohio or any other state Representative Dearmond said that, because of the present law, liability companies organized in Ohio must deposit $50,000 in every other state in which they operate

A modified single tax program has been proposed to Governor Donahey and legislators by E. W. Doty, Cleveland, former member of the state utilities commission as a solution of Ohio's tax problems

The Cole bill, authorizing county auditors to publish annually a list of all property exempt from taxation, including church property and property used for charitable purposes, which passed the house, has been killed by the senate taxation committee This committee fixed next Wednesday night for a hearing on the income tax bill introduced by Senator Burke Lorain county, and recommended passage of the Taft bills authorizing county auditors to certify to the state tax commission lists of tax exempt property, and creating special assessment districts in cities for public improvement and authorizing assessment of one half of the cost of public improvements on property to be benefited by the improvement

Arrest Toledoan For Non-Support

Acting on orders from the Toledo police department, Detective Zarnke last evening arrested Wilbert Markwood wanted on a charge of non support of his wife and children. He is a traveling salesman selling vacuum cleaners

Markwood is more or less of a sad Lothario For some reason he carries his marriage license in his pocket, and the police found a letter couched in endearing terms from some Norwalk girl, who gushingly stated she could hardly wait until she saw him again The letter was unsigned. There was also a pitiful letter from his wife, who told of her approaching confinement and how destitute she was An officer is expected here today to take him back

CALLS FOR WEST AVENUE ROUTE; LAW IN 30 DAYS

HARDING AND PARTY REACH JACKSONVILLE

President Prepares For Golf Game as Party Is Partially Broken Up

ABOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, JACKSONVILLE, Fla, March 6.—President Harding reached Florida this morning eager for his first tilt with Colonel Bogy over the famous golf course of the "land of flowers"

The Harding special reached Jacksonville at 8:40 a m. after a record all night run down the Atlantic coast, in which few stops were made. After a ten minute halt here the train proceeded on to Ormond, where Mr. Harding planned to shoot a round of golf and then go aboard his houseboat for an indeterminate cruise down the Indian river.

Lots of Boll Weevils

One of the few stops last night was at Rocky Mount, N. C, where the president was prevailed upon to abandon his previously announced intention of making no public appearances. A crowd of about a hundred people, mostly railroad workers, lured the president from his car and, pipe in hand, he chatted with them for ten minutes from the back platform.

"I suppose you have lots of boll weevils down here?" he inquired of one patriarch.

"Yes, suh," came the reply, "plenty of boll weevils and corn likker."

Mr. Harding joined in the general laugh over this revelation of a state secret.

Starting at Jacksonville, President Harding began to lose members of his vacation party. Secretary of labor James J. Davis left the train at this point, and at St. Augustine, further down the line, the secretary of war and Mrs. Weeks dropped off.

Convalescents Better

The two convalescents aboard, Mrs. Harding and Attorney General Daugherty, stood the train trip trip from Washington well. Despite the fact that yesterday was the first time Mrs. Harding has ventured beyond the White House gates since her near fatal illness six months ago, she appeared in good trim and enjoyed her "release" as she expressed it

Attorney General Daugherty's condition admittedly is not good. He remained in bed aboard the train during most of the trip from Washington. A trained nurse accompanied him. Mr. Daugherty's condition is such that it may be found inexpedient for him to make the houseboat trip down the Indian river with the Hardings. Early this morning he was considering going directly to Miami for a long rest.

OBERLIN BOOZE CONVEYOR NABBED

When Officer Faulhaber, took a car from Cleveland to this city yesterday afternoon he observed Gust Chambers, Oberlin colored man, get on the car carrying a heavy basket, and also noticed he had been drinking He waited until the car reached this city, and then arrested him He was taken to police station, and when the basket was examined six quarts of raisin jack was found

He was locked up, and this morning faced Mayor Jones on a charge of transporting liquor He plead guilty and was fined $500 and costs Being unable to pay he was sent to jail

After several months of dickering and bickering, and the use of yards and yards of oratory, the city council got down to brass tacks last evening and passed the Yellow Line franchise. They stubbornly stuck to the West avenue route, and refused to discuss any other plan. The council feel that now is the time, if ever, to get the Yellow Line up town, and that West avenue is the only available route.

Company May Reject

The section regarding the extension of the line, that was so strenuously objected to by General Superintendent Coen was adopted, although Councilman Rawson, thought that it would be better to state in the ordinance where it was expected such extensions if any would be required to be made.

Councilman Carson, chairman of the street railway committee that drew the ordinance, was against any change from it's present form. "Mr. Coen, won't accept this ordinance anyhow," in my opinion, but every one of us has gone on record for it, and I believe in sticking where we are. We have done our best to protect the city's interest, and no one can say we have not done our duty."

Against Double Track

As it now stands the ordinance will go into effect in thirty days, and the street railway people have thirty days to accept or reject the measure.

The extension section of the ordinance is not the only one that Superintendent Coen objected to. He does not want the West avenue route, and he does not want a double track all the way on Lodi street besides a number of other minor objections. It is considered a certainty that he will not accept the franchise as passed.

FIRE DAMAGES ON INCREASE IN THIS CITY

Annual Report of Fire Chief Bates Also Shows Three Persons Drowned in Year

Fire chief Wallace Bates presented his seventeenth annual report to the city council last evening. It states that there were 189 first alarms, three second alarms and one general alarm during the past year, an increase of 45 1-2 per cent over the preceding year. The fire loss on buildings and contents are placed at $18,376.79 on buildings, and $22,716.09 on contents, a total of $41,092.88. Insurance paid on losses amounted to $26,655.30.

On a basis of a population of 25,000 people the first loss amounted to $1.64 per capita. The report states that the fire loss in this city since Jnauary, 1907 amounts to $539,234 89, the average being $33,700.30 per year. The loss increase over last year was $26,791-23. The per cent increase was 280 per cent.

In addition to the damage to buildings and contents by fire, three children lost their lives in the river by drowning, and three persons were severely burned, and two cows and a pony destroyed. The alarms came from 91 buildings on fire: 17 automobiles and airplanes; 53 from fire in dumps and grass, and 20 from other causes. Two calls were received from outside the city, and there were six false alarms

Chief Bates states that what the city needs more than anything else is more attention paid to fire prevention, and he urges every citizen to keep this idea in mind at all times.

BLAMES DIFFERENCES FOR POOR RAIL SERVICES

TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1923

THE STATE LIBRARY

A very profitable course of study in our lower schools might be that of the services which we may all expect from our government, the return, in other words, which should be realized upon our taxes, and how to secure these returns.

There are many of the services which the different departments of our local and national governments stand ready to offer us for the mere asking, which are absolutely unknown to the average citizen. The person moreover who would be most benefited by them is often the one least aware of their existence or of how to avail himself of them.

We remember reading of the wonder and delight with which a certain group of farmers, in an isolated region discovered the resources which the government put at their service through the state and national departments of agriculture. The National Children's Bureau and the domestic science departments of the state universities and farm schools, all are ready to help with the problems of home management. The visiting nurses, and the public clinics, the food inspector and the city chemist, all are anxious to serve.

And most recently called to our attention, is the State Library. We were, without doubt, exceptionally ignorant upon this particular phase of the state government's activities, but we would be willing to stake a good deal upon the chance of receiving a comparatively vague reply from the first nine out of ten persons of our acquaintance to whom we should put the questions, "What is the State Library?" "What does it do?"

In order that others may enjoy as we have done, the forming of a new and desirable acquaintance in the person of the State Library, we print the following account of the many services which it renders to the people of the state.

The State Library conducts a general reference and circulating library for the entire state, aiming to supply books by direct mail to any of the two millions of people of the state not having local library service.

It acts as a central source of supply for every public school, and college library in the state, furnishing through inter-library loan the more unusual and expensive books not to be found in the smaller collections.

It acts as a central agency to find and secure for any reader in the state any book wanted not found in its own collections.

It sends small collections of books known as travelling libraries to rural groups, small communities and rural schools, furnishing usually the sole available book resources for general reading.

The State Library conducts a Library Organization Division, to visit the 200 public libraries of the state, collect information about them, and furnish advice and information for their administration and improvement.

The State Library also conducts a legislative reference division which collects information on public affairs useful to legislators, drafts bills on request, and compiles, edits and indexes laws and compilations on special subjects.

LOONY LEGISLATURES

The house of representatives of the South Carolina legislature has passed a bill prohibiting the playing of billiards or pool at any time anywhere in the state. Evidently a game in a citizen's home would be made illegal. Utah has prohibited smoking in public and citizens are being arrested. One house of the Oklahoma assembly has passed a bill prohibiting mention of evolution in state text books. One house of the Wisconsin legislature abolishes the National Guard. Then there are the Illinois boxing laws—all loco legislation.

Poolrooms sometimes are a public nuisance in Chicago, not because the games are vicious, but because boys and men are gregarious and the poolroom is a place to gather. Around it can get some bad ideas and act on them, and some police activities are caused by this gregariousness. Gangs get together also in cigar stores or in the alley.

Some reformers stress boys smoking and using vicious language in a poolroom and the playing of pool and billiards everywhere must be stopped. This is the true dementia Americana.

We'll admit there is less to be said for pool than there is for boxing, but if the boys are chased out of places where they can play pool they'll go to bowling alleys, and then, by the prohibitive line of reasoning, all bowling must be stopped. They'll go to the dance halls, again more deleterious than the hall with a squared ring in it, and all dancing must be stopped. What we need is a bill to amend human nature.—Chicago Tribune.

POEMS THAT LIVE

FAREWELL TO NANCY.

Ae fond kiss and then we sever!
Ae farewell, and then for ever!
Deep in heart-wrung tears I'll pledge thee,
Warring sighs and groans I'll wage thee.
Who shall say that Fortune grieves him,
While the star of hope she leaves him?
Me nae cheerful twinkle lights me;
Dark despair around benights me.

I'll ne'er blame my partial fancy—
Naething could resist my Nancy:
But to see her was to love her,
Love but her, and love for ever.
Had we never loved sae kindly,
Never met—or never parted,
We had ne'er been broken hearted.

Fare thee weel, thou first and fairest!
Fare thee weel, thou best and dearest!
Thine be ilka joy and treasure,
Peace, enjoyment, love and pleasure.
Ae fond kiss, and then we sever!
Ae farewell, alas! for ever!
Deep in heart-wrung tears I'll pledge thee,
Warring sighs and groans I'll wage thee.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

REP. FINIS GARRETT

One of the many interesting figures upon whom attention was centered as the sixty-seventh congress adjourned was Finis Garrett of Tennessee, Democratic leader in the house. Whether Garrett, who has held his seat in the lower house for nine sessions, will continue in the next congress as leader of his party is a question asked by many.

FINIS GARRETT

Garrett was born in 1875 near Ore Springs, Tenn. He was educated at the common schools and at Bethel college, receiving his degree in 1897. For a brief period after his graduation he taught school in Milan, Tenn. Later he studied law in the offices of Charles M. Ewing of Dresden under the personal instruction of Ewing himself. In 1889 he was admitted to the bar. He was appointed in chancery in 1900 and served until 1905.

Then he started on his political career and was elected to the fifty-ninth congress and has been reelected to every congress since.

Garrett was married in 1901 to Elizabeth Burns of McKenzie, Tenn. The family home is in Dresden, Tenn.

THE PASSING OF OLD FAMILIAR CORNERS

Norton Pusey an' Uncle Niles Turner

A Mr. Norton Pusey, o' Roundhead, Ohio, has been in this town all week tryin' t' locate his car, an' Uncle Niles Turner, hearin' he wuz here, hunted him up. Uncle Niles is an' ole Roundhead boy an' they had quite a talk.

"I suppose Lemuel Akey is still in th' land o' th' livin'? Th' family lived in th' big brick house with a slate roof on th' corner o' Spruce an' Main," said Uncle Niles.

"Th' Akeys is all scattered an' a fillin' station o' buff brick stands where th' ole home wuz," said Norton.

"Let me see—ther wuz th' Perley girls, Amy, Alice an' Lucy. Amy married a liveryman. They lived with ther mother next t' th' Courthouse an' owned th' only lawn mower in own, an', I believe, Mrs. Perley introduced th' first hammock."

"I never heard o' th' name, but a fillin' station covers all o' that ground now."

"Ther wuz a Morgan, a Hiram Morgan, that had a grocery an' filed saws in th' Watson block at th' corner o' Chillicothe an' Sandusky streets. I remember he wuz th' only Democrat in town an' we used t' boycott him fer a couple o' months ever four years. O course he's dead, but th' Watson block wuz a fine substantial buildin'."

"Well, it's gone blooey."

"Blew up?"

"Nope, wrecked t' make way fer a fillin' station."

"I wuz talkin' yesterday 'bout th' ole Salisbury family. They lived in what I'd call a mansion an' had lots o' money. Th' home wuz allus full o' guests from Detroit, an' Cincinnati an' Cleveland, an' ther wuz some folks that came all th' way from Boston t' visit 'em. They'd eat an' dance an' cut up an' had a fountain in th' yard. We allus thought it wuz so funny they didn' have a lawn mower. I remember they didn't seem t' care a d—d fer flowers."

"Ther all dead but th' oldest boy, an' he has th' county rights fer th' Excelsior carpet sweeper an' a fillin' station stands where th' home did."

"Th' Peacock buildin' wuz th' first modern business block that Roundhead ever had, but it wuz only built a few years ago, if I remember."

"They're tearin' it down now. A fillin' station with shrubbery, a croquet ground an' swimmin' pool 'll occupy th' corner."

"Th' Valley House, is it still standin'?"

"Nope."

"Fillin' station?"

"You said it."

"Which way is business movin', north or south?"

"You mean regular stores? Why they're backin' out in all directions."

"I remember o' seein' Billy Florence in 'The Almighty Dollar' in th' ole Crosby opery hall. I reckon Roundhead would be purty sleepy without th' ole Crosby."

"I wish you could see th' beautiful low Moorish stucco fillin' station with its Italian garden an' electric fountain that's replaced th' ole Crosby."

"My, oh, my! How about th' Courthouse?"

"Well, it's still standin', but th' Acme Auto Laundry has th' first floor."

"Wel, well, well. You know I hain't been in Roundhead fer years an' years. I went through ther last summer on th' cars an' could see your new library, an' it would be a credit t' any city."

"Gray stone with red tile roof an' flag pole? That's a fillin' station."

SULPHUR CLEARS UP ROUGH OR RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advt.

Grippe

Physicians advise keeping the bowels open as a safeguard against Grippe or Influenza.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia). 35c and 65c, jars and tubes.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT METHODIST CHURCH ARE WELL ATTENDED

The text used was, "Now Naaman, Captain of the host of the King of Syria, was a great man with his master, and honorable, because by him the Lord had given deliverance unto Syria; he was also a mighty man of valor, BUT HE WAS A LEPER."

The preacher said in part that as leprosy disfigures, deforms and destroys the physical nature, so the leprosy of sin disfigures, deforms and destroys the moral nature and all who do not accept Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour are lepers.

Rev. Kirby said, "Man may not be a drunkard or a prodigal; he may not be a gambler or a desecrator of sacred things but if he does not accept Jesus Christ he is a leper. He may be an honest man, a loyal citizen, devoted father and a kind husband, but if Jesus Christ is not accepted, he is a leper. He may be a member of the Church, an official of the same but if Jesus Christ is not appropriated for salvation, he is a leper.

"It is either the Fountain for cleansing or leprosy. It is Calvary or condemnation. It is Christ or the devil. It is God or Baal. It is life or death. It is heaven or hell. "No man can serve two masters." At the close of the service a number came forward and gave themselves to Christ and His Kingdom.

Women Of Today

Mrs. Mellcene T. Smith is one of the prettiest of our women legislators. She has the distinction of being one of the first two women elected to membership in the Missouri legislature and she is the second Democrat elected to the legislature from St. Louis county in more than forty-five years. Mrs. Smith was elected largely through the efforts of the women of her district and was supported by Republicans as well as Democrats in a general revolt against a corrupt political machine which staged one of the most shameful primary elections in the history of Missouri. Mrs. Smith's opponent in the election was a well known politician and millionaire backed by the machine which makes her victory doubly significant. The new woman legislator is an active club woman, a member of the D. A. R., W. C. T. U., Colonial Dames and other organizations. Her home is in University City, Missouri.

MRS. E. T. SMITH

Mrs. Nischen was recently appointed justice at Berlin-Moabit, in Germany, the city prison. This is said to be the first appointment of its kind ever given a woman in Germany.

ODD BITS ABOUT WOMEN

A preparatory school has been established at the Hague to train girls going to the Dutch colonies. The course will include a study of child culture, native languages, religion and customs. A model native room has been ereteed at the school.

Mss Mina Bruere who has been in charge of the women's department in one of the leading New York City banks has just been appointed assistant secretary of the company.

Madras, India, won a hard fought battle for suffrage and then scored another victory by electing three women to sit in the city council at the last election. The women parliament members of the National Socialist Party of Czecho-Slovakia have helped materially in passing a bill for dealing with venereal diseases and enforcing an equal moral standard.

A woman on every school board in the State is the goal set by the Illinois League of Woman Voters for the coming spring elections.

A woman who died recently in an English town had lived in one house for 78 years, never sleeping out of it a single night.

Carrier Pigeon Not So Dumb; Falls Twice on Same Ship to Get Whiskey

BOSTON, March 6—An ex-hausted carrier pigeon in mid-ocean fell on the deck of the Cunard liner Ausonia as she was crossing the Atlantic. The officers of the ship now tied up at East Boston, called the chief steward, A. S Bedford, who administered a small dose of whiskey

The pigeon quickly revived and flew away When within 200 miles of Halifax the ship's officers were amazed to see the bird, again in an exhausted condition, drop on the deck. Whiskey was again given the pigeon with beneficial results, and it again flew from the ship.

Miners Say Mule Tries Wire to See If Power Is Off; Knows Quitting Time

SHADYSIDE, O. March 6.—Claim they have ample proof of the intelligence of mules is made by miners employed at the Webb coal mine, near here the largest in Ohio In fact, these miners insist one of the mules used at the Webb mine is almost human in certain respects The miners claim this mule is able to tell when it is time to quit work

Due to danger of badly injuring or electrocuting, the miners, the current on the trolley wires above the entries is always shut off at quitting time

The mule, used in hauling coal cars from the rooms where it is mined to the motor haulage entries knows that when the wires do not burn if touched, it is time to quit work

After this particular mule has done what it thinks is a day's work it cautiously touches a whisker to the wire, if the power is on, the mule receives a slight shock and continues work Otherwise, it starts to leave the mine

She claims that the ditch is blocked causing water to stand, and as a result herself and family have been ill The sewer committee will look after it.

NEW ORDINANCE TO LIMIT TRUCK LOADS

The city council last evening passed an ordinance regulating the weight of loads to be carried on the city streets. It is based on the Burke truck law passed by the last legislature, and was passed so that in case of arrests violators can be tried in police court, and the fines go to the city instead of the state. The penalty for violating the provisions of the ordinance is a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 for a first offense, and not less than $100 nor more than $500 for subsequent offenses.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

The question of the vampire is ever with us Flappers may come and go but the vampire has persisted through the ages Here are a few remarks on vamps given out in a recent interview by Mme Jetta Goudal, a noted French emotional actress who is making her screen debut as the adventuress in Richard Barthelmess's production of The Bright Shawl"

The blue-eyed bobbed haired, baby doll type makes the alluring and therefore the successful vampire according to the madame.

"When I was cast for the role of the adventuress in the stage production" she explained, "I wanted to bring to the stage the real honest-to-goodness vampire Hence, I visited places where I was told I would see her at her best At first I did not recognize her for I sought some such type as fiction and a popular belief had led me to think would have seductive black eyes and long black lashes

"Instead what did I find" A host of little blue-eyed, appealing blondes working so artistically that their victims didn't realize that they were being vamped until they had fallen—fallen hard and expensively"

Mme. Jetta Goudal

Mme Goudal attracted considerable attention as the adventuress in the stage production "The Elton Case," as well as a number of other Broadway plays Despite the fact that she plays vamp roles, she lives demurely at a hotel in New York that is exclusively for women She says she makes her home there to escape the he-vamps "to her mind the most ridiculous species of man in America, whose conceit and egotism outclasses that of any woman.

And that's what the charming French temptress has to say about vampires.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Revenue officers are visiting every county in the United State to aid tax payers in the preparation of their income tax returns for the year 1922. Information concerning the date of their arrival and the location of their offices may be obtained by writing the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the tax payer lives.

Forms for filing returns of individual net income for the year 1922 are being sent to tax payers who filed returns for the year 1921. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve the tax payer of his obligation to file a return and pay the tax on time, on or before March 15, 1923 The forms 1040A for filing returns of net income $5,000 and less and 1040 for filing returns of net income in excess of $5,000, may be obtained from collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors.

Returns are required of every single person whose net income for 1922 was $1,000 or more or whose gross income was $5,000 or more, and of every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more or whose gross income was $5,000 or more Careful study of the instructions on the forms will greatly aid in making a correct return

Married, Single Persons.

In the making of his income tax return for the year 1922, a tax payer, if single, is allowed an exemption of $1,000 A married person, or head of a family, whose net income for the year 1922 was $5,000 or less is allowed an exemption of $2,500 The exemption allowed a married person or head of a family whose net income was in excess of $5,000 is $2,000. A head of a family is a person who actually supports one or more persons living in his or her household who are closely related to him or her by blood marriage or adoption.

An additional credit of $400 is allowed for each person (other than husband or wife) dependent upon the tax payer for chief support, if such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self support because mentally or physically defective. A single man whose net income for 1922 was $2,000 and who supports in his home an aged mother would have no tax to pay, but would nevertheless be required to file a return. The fact that a person's income may be non-taxable by reason of the exemptions does not nullify the requirement to file a return if his income was over than the prescribed figures $1,000 if single and $2,000 if married

The normal tax is 4 per cent. on the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the exemptions, and 8 per cent on the remaining net income. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or in four installments due on or before March 15, June 15, September 15 and December 15.

The revenue act of 1921 provides that an income tax return shall be filed by every person, married or single, whose gross income received for the year 1922 was $5,000 or more Broadly speaking, gross income includes all income received by the tax payer during the year from salary or wages, or from business, trade, profession or vocation, dealing in property, or the transaction of any business carried on for profit Net income upon which the tax is assessed is gross income less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, taxes contributions, etc.

Among the most important items in the returns of many tax payers are the deductions for business expenses. In the case of a storekeeper, these include a reasonable allowance for salaries paid employees, amounts spent for advertising, premiums for insurance against fire or other business losses, the cost of water, light, heat and fuel used in his place of business, drayage and freight bills.

A professional man, doctor or lawyer, may claim as deductions the cost of supplies used in the practice of his profession, expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile used in making professional calls, dues to professional societies, subscriptions to professional journals, office rent and the cost of fuel light, heat and water used in his office, and the hire of assistants

The farmer may deduct all amounts paid in the production, harvesting and marketing of crops, including labor, cost of seed and fertilizer purchased, cost of minor repairs to farm buildings (other than the dwelling, which is personal expense) and cost of small tools used up in the course of a year or two Rent paid for a farm also is an allowable deduction

Deduction of personal or living expenses such as rent paid for a dwelling, hire of domestic servants, education of children, etc, is expressly disallowed by the revenue act.

In making out his income tax return for the year 1922, the tax payer is required to include all items of gross income In the case of a storekeeper the gross income consists usually of the gross profits on sales, together with income from other sources The returns must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold To reflect net income correctly, and to ascertain gross income, inventories are ordinarily required as of the beginning and end of each taxable year The professional man, doctor, lawyer, dentist, must include all fees and other compensation for professional services.

The farmer is required to report as gross income all profits derived from the sale of exchange of farm products, including crops and live stock, whether raised on the farm or purchased and resold. A farmer who rents his farm on the crop sharing basis must report such income for the years in which the crops are sold Profit obtained from the sale or rental of farm lands also must be reported

In order that they may obtain full advantage of the deductions from gross income to which they are entitled, tax payers are advised by collectors of internal revenue to study carefully the instructions on the forms for making returns under the head "Income from Business or Profession

Time Up March 15

Liability to file an income tax return for the year 1922 is determined by a person's status on the last day of the taxable year December 31, if the return is made on the calendar year basis as most are If on that date he was single he must file a return if his net income for 1922 was $1,000 or more, and he is allowed only an exemption of $1,000. If he was married on December 31 he is granted the exemption allowed a married person for the full year, $2,500 if his net income was $5,000 or less, and $2,000 if his net income exceeded $5,000 The bride's income, however, must be considered with that of her husband the larger exemptions being allowed married couples living together A widow or widower whose spouse died before the end of the years is classed as a single person Divorces and persons separated by mutual consent also are classed as single persons

Similar conditions exist with respect to the head of a family If, during the year, his support of relatives ceased he is entitled only to the $1,000 exemption. A man who has a dependent child, not mentally or physically defective, that attains the age of 18 years just before the close of the taxable year can not claim the $400 credit for a dependent

To avoid penalty, income tax returns must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives or has principal place of business on or before midnight of March 15, 1923

Where additional time is required because of illness or absence of the tax payer from home, the collector may grant, upon application before the return is due, March 15, an extension of not to exceed 30 days. If an accurate return can not be made within the 30 days extension period, a request for a further extension must be made to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D C Collectors have not authority to grant an extension exceeding 30 days

Failure to make a return on time subjects the delinquent to a penalty of $1,000 and an additional penalty of 25 per cent of the amount of tax due If the failure is willfull however or an attempt is made to evade the tax by filing a false return, the offender is liable to imprisonment and to a fine of not more than $10,000 and costs, in addition to a penalty of 50 per cent of the amount of tax evaded.

HENRIETTA

By Mrs. H. G. Portman

HENRIETTA, March 6.—Elmer Battenhouse, Robert Lees and Harry Bucks, Henrietta boys, who are attending high school at Birmingham, went to Tiffin with the Birmingham team Thursday, to participate in the northwestern basket ball tournament.

School was resumed Monday after a forced vacation of two weeks on account of the measles epidemic Many of the pupils were able to return to their work but there is still a number suffering "after effects" The measles proved unusually severe in several cases One death, Millie Fern Pelton, of Miss Unger's room occurred.

Quite a number from here attended the "Little Clodhopper," given by the Animal Husbandry Class of the Birmingham High school, Saturday evening. Don't use the whip on tired nerves — it means trouble

When the day's work is hard, you can't make it easier with stimulants.

Ask any doctor for the facts.

You can't over-draw energy without paying.

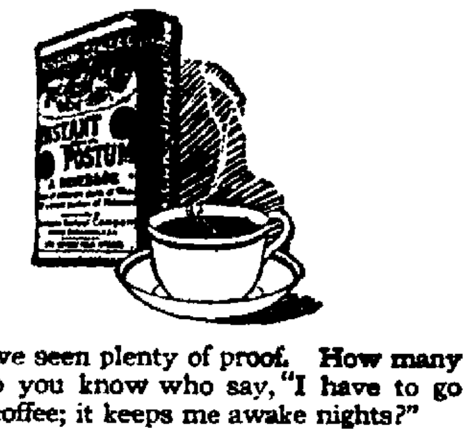

Coffee contains the nerve-stimulating drug, caffeine. When coffee is used to overcome fatigue, it means whipping the tired nerves into a run.

You may seem to get added strength—but there's a settlement coming for an over-drawn account.

Take care!

Rest is the cure for fatigue. Health is the equipment for hard tasks.

Rest and health are interfered with when nerves are over-stimulated.

You've seen plenty of proof. How many people do you know who say, "I have to go slow on coffee; it keeps me awake nights?"

How is it in your own case? Have you counted restless night hours after the evening cup of coffee?

Treat your health sensibly that you may meet your task capably.

Don't try to draw strength from over-driven nerves. That way lies weakness. Don't increase over-work by using stimulants. You are merely postponing and increasing the penalties.

Be fair to yourself!

For a hot, comforting beverage, drink Postum and let nerves have their natural rest.

There's charm without harm in Postum—a delightful, satisfying cereal beverage; rich, seal-brown in color, delicious in flavor and aroma, and containing nothing that can irritate nerves or disturb health. Postum is safe and enjoyable for every member of the family.

Thousands who formerly used coffee or tea, and began to pay the penalties of nerve-stimulation, now use Postum and praise its comforting goodness.

The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

"There's a Reason" for Postum

The soccer team it was stated have been refused the use of the ground at Cascade park on account of the players cutting up the turf so badly.

City Collegians Play At Ashland Wednesday Night

ASHLAND, March 6. — What promises to be the best basket ball game of the season looms up for the American Legion cagers next Wednesday night when they play the Elyria Collegians.

The Elyria team is headed by Peabody, coach at Elyria high school, and all men have made their letters in college. Just what the personnel of the Legion team will be is doubtful. It is probable that Faulkner, who has been laid up with the flu for the past two games, will be back in the lineup.

Wensinger and Coss, who have been playing with the Canadian Wanderers have returned so that we can safely say there will be some strong opposition for the Elyria bunch with almost every one back in condition.

Which Phonograph Would You Choose?

Only one test can tell you which is the best phonograph to buy: it is the Turn-Table Test, where three other high grade phonographs are played in direct comparison with the New Edison.

Hear this demonstration—it will not obligate you in your final choice, and you may be surprised to know what a difference there is in the music of various phonographs. Come in and sit beside the Turn-Table. The New Edison will play any music you like. Listen to its fine tonal shading, the rich, full quality of famous voices and orchestral instruments.

Then hear the same selections, by the same artists, on each of the other phonographs. You can easily decide which is the perfect instrument—which deserves a place in your home.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS
Adele Garrison's New Phase of
Revelations of a Wife
Copyright, 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Seemingly Simple Advice Lillian Gave Madge.

I TRIED to conceal the shiver which Lillian's words sent over me. But the sinister possibilities for my father and the rest of us at which she had hinted were too much for me, and it was almost half a minute before I was able to answer her.

"You mean—torture?" I whispered.

She nodded grimly.

"I mean just exactly that. No, I'm not crazy, although ten years ago if I had hinted at anything so melodramatic you would have been justified in calling me so. But remember civilization has slipped back a thousand years in some respects in the last ten, and there's nothing too outrageous or fantastic to be possible to a certain type of criminal mind—which isn't always confined to the ranks of the criminals," she finished, with a cynical little laugh.

"Don't look so white," she went on. "Remember, this isn't the probability, it's only the remote possibility. It's what will happen if they get hold of any of us, but they have to catch us before they cook us, and we're fully forewarned, very respectably forearmed—and—I'm conceited enough to think that rain for brain, we outpoint them. The chances are 100 to 1 against their getting their hands on any one of us, but the one chance is what we must guard against. So take no risks, remember, after I am gone. I'll keep an eye on you while I'm here."

"I will do whatever you wish—you know that——" I faltered.

"I know it." She put her hand on my shoulder, with a comforting, comradely touch. "Have you seen Tom Chester yet?"

"A Case of Puppy Love."

The query was an abrupt one, and I guessed that she had put it more to divert my mind from the sinister picture she had just been drawing than because she cared for any answer to it.

"No, I haven't," I replied. "I asked father about him, and he said Mr. Chester had been very restless today. I thought it would be better to wait."

Lillian looked thoughtful.

"It's too late now, of course," she said. "But you'd better plan to go in to see him the first thing tomorrow morning. The poor lad's just sick enough to have worried a lot about you. Your father, with the early Victorian attitude which you invariably find in a former man of the world, appears to take the ground that nobody of the male persuasion save himself and Dicky has any right to express any concern over you. But I have a sneaking pity for the poor lad. He has as bad a case of puppy love as I ever saw in a youth of his years and discretion.

Madge Is Ill.

"While, of course, he'll never annoy you—his is the worship-of-a-star attitude," she went on, "yet you'll have to squelch him eventually. But just now he's sick and so upset and restless that his convalescence is being seriously delayed. He needs a glimpse of his divinity, and a few kind yet judicious words. So let me know when you're ready, and I'll call on him with you."

"Whenever you think best," I found myself saying, mechanically, although my mental reaction to her astonishing words was anything but stereotyped.

I had seen—being a woman with average perception—that young Tom Chester was more than ordinarily interested in me, but to have Lillian put it so baldly into words, startled me. I had sense enough to perceive, however, that she regarded his emotions in much the same light as she would an attack of measles or chicken-pox for Marion. She would humor the child while she was ill and reserve all necessary discipline until she was well again.

"All right, I'll be in after breakfast," she said cheerily. "Now, get to bed. You need a good night's sleep about as badly as any one I know. Good night."

"Good night. I'll be all right in the morning." I called after her, but I boasted without result.

The next morning I could not lift my head from my pillow, because of an attack of my old enemy, neuralgic headache. Lillian and Katie cared for me assiduously all day, but it was an unusually severe attack, and I could scarcely bid my father good-by when he left for Washington—I knew as the result of Lillian's talk with him. I was not myself again until the morning of the very day upon which Dicky was to arrive, and it was with the feeling of getting through with a duty expected of me, that I went with Lillian to my father's room, where Tom Chester was convalescing.
